Carrasco Resigns; Board Appoints Gonzales

At the regular meeting of the Hart School Board on July 15, Supt. Ken Rosser told the Board that in order to hire Ruby Romero as head girls' basketball coach, the resignation of her mother, Mary Ann Carrasco, from the Board was required to comply with state nepotism laws. He also told the Board that he and Elodia Rodriguez, president, had spoken with the school district's attorney and were told that by 6 p.m. on July 17, the Board would have to appoint someone to fill Carrasco's vacancy.

Carrasco's resignation was accepted on July 15, and Martha Gonzales was appointed on July 17. Romero was hired on July 17.

Romero had been the head girls' basketball coach at Hart before, and left the district for Dimmitt ISD. She is a HHS graduate.

Other resignations accepted at the July 15 meeting were those of Steven Parker and Katelyn Gross. The employment of Susie Garcia as counselor and part-time teacher was approved, as was the hiring of Lani Johnston, kindergarten teacher.
